ICE DEPORTS TO HAITI 31 CRIMINAL ALIENS, STATUS VIOLATORS

New Orleans Detention and Removal Officers worked closely with Haitian Government

NEW ORLEANS — The U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) office here today deported 27 Haitian criminal aliens and four status violators who were illegally living in the United States.

The deported Haitians, who had exhausted their legal appeals, were flown to Port au Prince by government aircraft.

Craig Robinson, field office director for ICE New Orleans Detention and Removal Operations, noted the cooperative effort with Haiti, which helped with the transfer. “The Haitian government provided outstanding support to help us make this an especially successful mission,” he said.

“We work closely with numerous countries using ICE’s unique enforcement tools, including the immigration laws, to promote a higher level of security here at home. Our number-one priority is removing criminal aliens from the United States.” Robinson oversees a five-state area which includes: Louisiana, Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee.

The government of Haiti worked with U.S. officials to authorize travel documents for the criminal aliens, and coordinate logistics for the flight. “The travel document unit, the Department of State personnel and the budget folks all worked very hard to make this major logistical effort come to fruition,” said Robinson. “The coordination involved was first-rate and provided us a template to use in future operations.” The Plaquemines’ Sheriff’s Department and other government agencies were instrumental in completing this mission successfully.

A Haitian boards a government aircraft in New Orleans in preparation for his repatriation flight to Port au Prince.

This repatriation represents the latest in a series of collaborations between Haiti and the U.S. within the last few years. As a result, ICE has successfully repatriated more than 460 Haitian nationals from throughout the United States. Sixty-nine percent of those removed were convicted of crimes in the U.S.

These deportations demonstrate ICE's commitment to restoring integrity to the nation's immigration system, which is reflected in a record year of deportations. ICE formally removed more than 161,000 aliens nationally in fiscal year 2004. More than half of those were criminal aliens.

The Haitians deported today traveled via government aircraft run by the U.S. Marshal Service, called the Justice Prisoner and Alien Transportation System (JPATS). JPATS is one of the largest transporters of prisoners in the world and handles hundreds of requests every day to move prisoners and criminal aliens nationally and internationally.

There is an automatic 10-year bar against deported aliens from legally re-entering the U.S. "Anyone caught in the U.S. by any law enforcement office after having been previously deported will be presented by ICE officers to the U.S. Attorney for prosecution," said Robinson. "Reentry after deportation is a felony that can carry a possible 20-year prison sentence."
